I Teach TEFL Philosophy

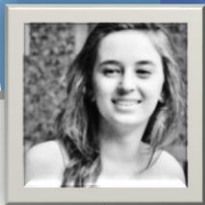

The I Teach TEFL philosophy will be more directed at practical in-class teaching and a major emphasis will be placed on proper and thorough lesson planning and strict classroom management. Although Grammar is the crux of English as a language, we will rather be focusing more on building a decent vocabulary on the important aspects of our target markets' lives, to be able to construct phrases and build understandable sentence in order for them to be able to communicate in English. However the necessary amount of training will be allocated to grammar.

The Directors of I Teach TEFL are also of the opinion that, thorough understanding of the culture and customs of the target audience, it will be a major benefit in assisting future I Teach TEFL teachers to understand their student better

English in Thailand should note that the cost of living is relatively low in comparison to the contract salary, and as such, saving a significant portion of a teacher's income should not be difficult. Transportation in Thailand, in particular, is exceedingly inexpensive and accessible

Nadia Everson (South African)

The course in a whole was very educational and eye-opening, the content was sufficient and learning more about the Thai culture was an added bonus. Definitely value for money!

Louis was a great trainer and he really prepared us well for what we can expect, he didn't sugar-coat anything. It is also comforting to know that he has our interests in mind when he places us, as he wants us to be happy in our new career.
